DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
  - I. Claims 1-13, drawn to an electrostatic spray device with a component designed to focus the electric field of the spray end, classified in class 239, subclass 699.
  - II. Claims 14-15, drawn to a method of manufacturing an electrode, classified in class 555, subclass 555.
  - III. Claims 16-21, drawn to an electrostatic spray device with a mechanism for cleaning the spray electrode with a pressurized wave of fluid, classified in class 239, subclass 708.
  - IV. Claims 22-23, drawn to the method of cleaning an electrode, classified in class 555, subclass 555.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

2. Inventions I and II are related as apparatus and product made. The inventions in this relationship are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the apparatus as claimed is not an obvious apparatus for making the product and the apparatus can be used for making a materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different apparatus (MPEP § 806.05(g)). In this case the product can be made by a materially different apparatus such as casting and sanding.
3. Inventions III and IV are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product. See MPEP

Art Unit: 3752

§ 806.05(h). In the instant case the process as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product such as the cleaning of any electrode not necessary restricted to the device above.

4. Inventions I and III are directed to related products. The related inventions are distinct if:

(1) the inventions as claimed are either not capable of use together or can have a materially different design, mode of operation, function, or effect; (2) the inventions do not overlap in scope, i.e., are mutually exclusive; and (3) the inventions as claimed are not obvious variants.

See MPEP § 806.05(j). In the instant case, the inventions as claimed use materially different components, specifically the focus point as described in claim 1 and the mechanism for applying a pulsed pressure wave to the fluid as described in claim 16. Furthermore, the inventions as claimed do not encompass overlapping subject matter and there is nothing of record to show them to be obvious variants.

5. Inventions II and III are directed to related processes. The related inventions are distinct if: (1) the inventions as claimed are either not capable of use together or can have a materially different design, mode of operation, function, or effect; (2) the inventions do not overlap in scope, i.e., are mutually exclusive; and (3) the inventions as claimed are not obvious variants.

See MPEP § 806.05(j). In the instant case, the inventions as claimed have a different function. Specifically Invention II is describing the method of manufacturing an electrode, and invention IV is describing the method of cleaning electrode. Furthermore, the inventions as claimed do not encompass overlapping subject matter and there is nothing of record to show them to be obvious variants.
